

Brent Bartels
LEED AP

Associate

A designer with 10 years of experience, Brent is interested in the development of creative processes that allow for deep and thorough investigations of place. The results are clear and effective formal translations. His studies in the field of Urban and Regional planning allow him the ability to consider the city, the community, the building, the detail, and the person in relation to one another with ease and flexibility.

As a Colorado native he has grown up with a deep appreciation for nature and a personal connection to the outdoors. This connection has prompted a level of sustainable living that reinforces his design philosophy.

Having explored areas such as Cambodia and Brazil, He is cognizant of issues such as social and economic diversity, affordability, density and community.
